Bureau of Food, Drug and Radiation Protection

Dear Applicant:

The District of Columbia Radiation Protection Regulations require that any person who calibrates radiation machines or provides radiation protection and/or health physicist consultations must register with the Department of Health.

The Bureau of Food, Drug and Radiation Protection, Environmental Health Administration is the designated office for implementing and enforcing this regulation. It is our responsibility to ensure that all appropriate persons or companies are in conformance with the requirements of this regulation.

Please complete the enclosed application. In addition, please provide us with a delineation of your educational background and a list of any professional organization of which you are a member. Please return the application and the requested information to the following address within ten (10) days of the date of this notice.

Department of Health
Environmental Health Administration
Bureau of Food, Drug and Radiation Protection
